Excessive rain could cause small-grain woes

BY JAMES A. SMITH
Extension Agent

There's some yellow or light green small grain around. It's quite possible that the excessive rainfall of April leached out some nitrogen. If symptoms are consistant with nitrogen deficiency, an additional 35 to 40 pounds of nitrogen application would be appropriate.

A tissue analysis is the way to make a correct determination. A sample consists of the top 6 inches of a small grain plant prior to heading from 35 plants or if heading, pull the second leaf from the top of 100 plants. The turn around time for the test is about a week at the Va. Tech Lab. This would be a good year to make some evaluation of your small grain fertilization program.

Blue mold has been reported in four Georgia counties at five locations. Over 90% of Florida, Georgia producers used Ridomil in the plant bed.

If your plant bed has been treated 70 days with Ridomil - begin a weekly application of Ridomil, plus a protectant fungicide -continue until transplanting is complete. Immediately after completion of transplanting, destroy the plants in the bed by discing, plowing and over-seeding with a cover crop --such as soybeans.

About linens

Easy Care In Bed Linens

After a long day nothing is more relaxing than curling up in a clean well-made bed. A clean bed can always be yours if there are at least three sets of sheets and pillowcases for every bed--one on the bed, one in the laundry and one set in the closet so quick change of bed linens can be made at any time.

Always note the care instructions on the package or label when purchasing sheets. In general, sheets should be washed on the permanent press cycle in warm or hot water. Be certain to follow usage instructions on the package of detergent and bleach or other laundry additives for best results. Wash two sheets at a time, filling out the load with pillowcases and other items that can be washed and dried together. Tumble dry on the permanent press setting. Remove as soon as cycle is finished, then fold because ironing is not necessary.

Put clean sheets on a bed in a systematic way so that the bed will be neat and easy to make each morning until the next sheet change. Smooth the bottom sheet over the bed. If it is not a contour sheet, first tuck under the mattress at the foot and head of the bed. Then make square hospital corners so the sheet will stay firmly in place.

The top sheet should be put on the bed with enough of the sheet at the head so it can be folded over the blanket. The sheet keeps the blanket clean. Put the blanket over the sheets and tuck both sheet and blanket in at the foot of the bed.

Sheets come in a choice of two basic types -- muslin and percale. The fabric differs in thread count (number of threads per square inch) and the type and size of yarn used. Muslin sheets have lower thread count and heavier weight than percale because of their coarser yarn. However, a good muslin sheet is durable and economical. If you are going to purchase these that will be put through a college laundry, you may find that muslin sheets will last longer and be more durable. Percale is generally made of combed, as well as carded, yarns that are finer, smoother and lighter in weight than muslin. consequently, the sheets have a lighter, more luxurious feel. Percale thread count can vary from 170 to 200.

The majority of bed linens today are blends of cotton and polyester. This combination offers durability, wrinkle resistance and easy maintenance. Bed sheets, both flat and fitted, come in standard sizes to fit standard sized mattresses. Most common are twin, double, queen and king sizes. Crib, cot or youth bed sizes may also be available. If purchasing sheets for an odd-sized bed, be sure you carry the exact measurements of your mattress surface and depth. Mattresses vary in thickness so the sheet size, particularly the fitted type needed must be determined after measuring the length, width and depth of the mattress.

Pillowcases can be purchases for regular, queen or king size pillows. Should you find a good buy on a queen or king size pillow (sometimes stores run specials on these to get rid of an overstock supply), you may take some of the excess stuffing out and use them as throw pillows to put on a sofa.

Most manufacturers label sizes by the torn length before the sheet or pillowcase is hemmed. A top sheet should be approximately 10" larger than the mattress size so they can be comfortably tucked in on all sides.

The use of color and designs in bed linens makes sleeping areas one of the most decorative areas in the home. Most sheets today are printed and styled to suit any decor, including a child or baby's room. For a dramatic effect, mix and match color coordinated designs. Consider for example, combining a floral print with a stripe design. Color coordinate a room with additional sheet material to make curtains, dust ruffles, chair cushions and even a bathrobe.

If you have a homemaking question or problem, you may call 352-8244 or you may write P. O. Box 488, Appomattox, VA 24522. It is always a pleasure to hear from you and to help you.

Have a good week.

Recipe of the Week

Note: This is an excellent cookie to serve for receptions and special occasions. These may be made very small or the size of a walnut. If making very small, adjust cooking time.

USDA Proposes Rules On Burley and Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Quotas

The U.S., Department of Agriculture recently proposed rules to implement legislation which requires persons not significantly involved in the management or use of land for agricultural purposes to either sell or forfeit their burley or flue-cured tobacco acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

The legislation -the No Net Cost Tobacco Act of 1982 -- does not include individuals, but does include governmental entities, public utilities, educational institutions and religious institutions, among others.

According to Everett Rank, Administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilizaiton and Conservation Service, quotas must be sold by Dec. 1, 1983, or Dec. 1 of the year after the year in which the farm is acquired, whichever is late. If the quota is not sold by the applicable date, the person shall forfeit the quota to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The proposed rules also set down guidelines for county ASC committees to determine whether such a person is "significantly involved", and establish provisions concerning forfeiture of allotments and quotas.

The proposed rules specify that required sales may be made only to producers who are or will become active burley or flue-cured tobacco producers within the same county.

The proposed rules are scheduled to appear in the April 22 Federal Register. Copies will be available in county offices of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service soon afterwards.

Written comments on the proposed rules should be sent to the Director, Tobacco and Peanuts Division: USDA/ASCS, P.O. Box 2115, Washington, D.C., 20013 and must be received by May 23. All comments will be available for public inspection in Room 5750 of USDA's South Building during regular business hours.

FCIC Information - May 31 is the final planting date for corn insured by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), or by private companies reinsured by FCIC.

Acreage of corn planted by May 31 must be reported by June 15. Any acreage planted after May 31 must also be reported as being planted too late to be insured.

Farmers who are unable to plant prior to May 31 because of excessive moisture conditions may wish to sign a 20-day late planting agreement due to the late planting.

More information about the new late-planting agreement may be obtained by contacting a local, authorized crop insurance agent, or though the Appomattox County ASCS Office located at Court Street in Appomattox.
